THERE'S A GOOD LAUGH IN BRINGING UP FATHER TODAY

THIRTY-SIXTH YEAR

LEGLESS MAN IS HELD AS SMALL, RICH CANADIAN

Wreck of Human Being, Identified as Wealthy Theatre Owner, Missing for Period of Two Years, Located in City of Des Moines

Detained by Detectives Who Demand Reward of $50,000—Found in West Last September, Captives Declare—Word Awaited from Toronto

DES MOINES.—(By United Press).—Legless and suffering from concussion of the brain, a man believed to be Ambrose Small, Canadian millionaire, missing two years, is held here today by detectives who seek the $50,000 reward offered for him. Photographs of Small and of the wreck of a human being who may be he, are being rushed today to Toronto from Des Moines for identification, while the whole mystery of Small's disappearance has been reopened.

FOUND LAST SEPTEMBER

Frank Hart and John Brophy, private detectives, who claim to have found in the legless and mentally incapacitated man sought for over a year, say that they discovered him here last September and that they have been jealously guarding him since.

The two said they would not permit reporters or the public to see the man they have in hiding "because we want to be sure we get the $50,000 reward."

Small vanished December 2, 1919, from his home in Toronto. John Daugherty, his secretary, disappeared at the same time. He was caught sometime ago and convicted of stealing part of Small's millions. Lack of evidence prevented authorities charging him with kidnapping his employer.

MAN IDENTIFIED
The detectives stated today that a theatrical manager of Des Moines, who had known Small in Toronto, had positively identified the man. The name of the person making the identification was withheld, however.

The detectives have notified Canadian authorities and Small's family, but have received no answer.

The detectives stated that the unfortunate man refused to meet the eyes of the theatrical manager who identified him. He gazed at his former friend, they said, and then wiped his eyes.

WIFE MAY VISIT HIM

DES MOINES, Iowa.—(By Associated Press).—A man of mystery who, according to Frank Hart, former assistant chief of police, has been under surveillance here for six months as Ambrose Small, missing Toronto theatre owner, may be brought from his place of hiding today, Hart announced. Hart said he was certain that the man is the Toronto millionaire for whom a world wide search has been in progress since his disappearance in December, 1919. Hart said he had been in communication with Toronto authorities, and that some one would be here from the Canadian city either today or Tuesday to verify the identity of the man. He said Mrs. Small might come to Des Moines.

Hart refused to discuss the condition of the man he claims to be Small, but John J. Brophy, former chief of detectives, who with Hart all Miller, former superintendent of public safety, assisted Hart in his investigation said that the man is living in an isolated farm-house just outside of the city limits and that he had been reached in an hour's time when wanted. Brophy substantiated reports that there to be a man who said he appears to be Small.

Brophy intimated, however, that he was injured by a train and not by gunshot wounds as previously reported.

SIX KILLED WHEN TRAIN HITS AUTO

Motor Party Wiped Out in Crash At Weston, O.

WESTON, Ohio.—(By United Press).—Six persons were killed instantly Sunday evening at a railroad crossing, two miles north of here, when a B. & O. passenger train, said to have been going 50 miles an hour, crashed into the automobile in which the party was returning to their homes in Delta.

The dead:

Joseph Oberla, 77, Civil War veteran.

George Budditt, 37, letter carrier.

Mrs. George Budditt, 35.

Ray Budditt, son of George Budditt.

Opal Oberla, 12, granddaughter of Joseph Oberla.

Mrs. John Miller, 83, widow, of Delta.

The party was returning from camp meeting in Portage, Ohio, and it is believed were on their way to visit a brother of Joseph Oberla, near here.

Whether their automobile stalled on the tracks, or whether they failed to see the approaching train, is not known. The approach to the crossing is open and the view unobstructed, it is said.

STILL AND MASH TAKEN IN RAID

Sheriff and Aides Make Haul on Perry-top Farm

ODOR DIRECTS OFFICERS

Acetylene Outfit Found in Straw on Oper Farm

An old-fashioned washbottle, equipped with coil and lid, was the means employed by Dewitt George, 55 residing in Perry-top, for the alleged manufacture of intoxicating liquor, according to Sheriff Charles W. Baxter and his deputies, who raided the George farm Sunday morning.

No finished product was discovered and but little mash was found. The officers were attracted to the scene, after they had visited the home of Pete Oper, a neighbor, on Saturday looking for a still. Odor of liquor was everywhere in the air, the sheriff said.

The washbottle, wrapped in a burlap sack, was found by the officers, buried in the garden at the George home. The coil was found in weeds nearby. The lid of the tin vessel was located in the poultry yard, covered with an old-tumbledown chicken coop.

MASH IS HIDDEN
Officers searched in vain for mash. They decided to ascend to the top of the house. As they proceeded up the stairs, Deputy Sheriff Clarence Fraumeltier noticed that on the landing, a few steps up, was a pile of trash.

He began digging to the bottom of the trash and located a trap door. When this was opened, a barrel, containing a small amount of mash, was found.

George was ordered to appear in Justice Ernest M. Botkin's court Monday, from which the search warrant was issued, to answer to the charge of having intoxicating liquor in his possession.

George was previously caught with a still in his possession, officers say. At that time he was fined $50 and costs. He was also arrested by the government officers and an investigation made by Federal men.

GEORGE ORDERED IN
Up to noon Monday George had not appeared in Justice Botkin's court. Sheriff Baxter said that unless he came in, he would bring him in to answer to the charge.

George is employed at a Lima cigar factory. He rented the land, consisting of 20 acres, and his wife and several children reside there. George is an Italian.

At the Oper farm, the sheriff and his deputies were unable to locate a still. Deputy Sheriff Dotson, while digging into a stack with a pitchfork, located a complete acetylene outfit buried in the straw.

No charge has been filed against Oper. A case wherein he was assessed $1,000 for having whisky illegally in his possession, is now pending in common pleas court against Oper, having been appealed from police court.

TRIED THIRD TIME

Cincinnati Man Again Faces Charge of Murder

CINCINNATI.—(By Associated Press).—The third trial of Walter Brockman, charged with killing Harry Brate, Lockland high school boy, began today with the examination of prospective jurors.

Brockman is accused of being one of three holdup men who robbed the Brate boy while he was escorting Starr, formerly of Arlington Heights, but now of Covington, Ky., the night of January 15th. Later Brate "as shot by one of the robbers."

Raymond Kingsbury and William Tieman who said they were with Brockman at the time of the shooting of Brate, and who turned state's evidence against him, will be witnesses again at this trial.

Brockman's mother has died since his second trial.

DEMOCRATS WARN G. O. P. OF TAX

White Calls the Revision Methods "Political Jugglery"

BILL COMES UP WEDNESDAY

House Plans for Passage of Measure Saturday

WASHINGTON.—(By Associated Press).—House Republicans were to pass today on the administration tax revision bill as drafted by the majority members of the ways and means committee, and decide upon procedure in the house during consideration of the measure, planned now to begin Wednesday.

Under a program understood to have been mapped out by house leaders, the Republican conference would approve a special rule providing for passage of the bill next Saturday, after two days of general debate and two days for consideration of amendments under the five-minute rule. Priority would be given the committee amendments if the present plan goes thru.

BILL'S FEATURES
The bill as drafted is designed to raise approximately $3,000,000,000 during the calendar year 1922, and its most outstanding features are provisions for repeal of the excess profits taxes and the income surtaxes in excess of 32 per cent, and an increase in the normal corporation income tax of five per cent, making the maximum fifteen per cent.

Other amendments of the 1915 law include additional exemptions for heads of families and married men receiving small incomes; repeal of the stamp taxes on toilet preparations and proprietary medicine; and the substitution of manufacturers' taxes for the so-called nuisance levies. Details of all of these changes previously have been published.

Majority members of the ways and means committee expect the Republican conference called for 1 p. m. today to make few, if any changes in the committee draft. Formal presentation of the bill to the house late today was planned and it then would be made public.

DEMOCRATS TO ACT

Democratic members of the ways and means committee will begin a study of the measure after it is introduced with a view to determining whether they will offer a minority report.

The Democratic attack on the bill was launched yesterday by Chairman George White, of the Democratic national committee, who warned the administration that the business men of the country were not to be "fooled" by the methods of "political jugglery" which he claimed the Republicans had adopted in framing their whole tax revision program.

IS FOUND DEAD IN RESCUE HOME

Stranger is Victim of Dropsy and Lung Trouble

Emery Welch, 64, resident of the Lima Rescue home, Wayne-st and Central-ave, was found dead on the floor of his room by members of the household of the Rev. A. D. Welty, superintendent of the home, Monday morning.

Death is believed to have been due to a complication of dropsy and lung trouble. Welch had been ill for 18 months.

He came to the Rescue home some months ago, being drawn there by services held by the superintendent. He remained for weeks at a time. When his health began to fail, he was removed to the city hospital and then to the Tuberculosis hospital, southwest of the city.

He returned to the Rescue home Saturday. The Rev. Mr. Welty declared he was a very sick man at that time. He visited him last, he said, before he retired on Sunday evening and found Welch sleeping. He did not disturb him.

When his room was visited Monday morning, Welch was lying dead, upon the floor. The body was removed to the Williams and Davis mortuary. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

PASTOR STRICKEN

Minister Paralyzed in Midst of Sermon at Toledo

TOLEDO.—(By Associated Press).—Rev. C. E. Lapp, of Granville, Ohio, suffered a stroke of apoplexy in the midst of his sermon at the Ashland-ave Baptist church here last night and fell unconscious in the pulpit. Three physicians in the congregation did everything possible to relieve the prostrate minister, but without avail and he was taken to a hospital in an unconscious condition where it was said this morning that he had not yet gained consciousness.

The Rev. Lapp was filling the pulpit for Rev. Harry Walker Vincent who is on a vacation.

LAW VIOLATION BY RAILS SEEN

View of Labor Board on Erie Company Leasing Marion Shops and Round House to Outside Concern—Federal Body May Intervene in Matter

MARION, O.—(By Associated Press).—The Erie Railroad Company today announced that its local shops and round house has been leased by the Railway Service Company of Marion and would be operated by that concern beginning immediately. The Railway Service Company of Marion and would be operated by local manufacturers and capitalists and it will take over all repair and other work now done in the shops, an announcement stated.

Announcement of the new plan of operation of the shops was made here today by W. A. Baldwin, manager of the Ohio region of the railroad, who declared that all repair work formerly done here by the railroad, would be continued under direction of the new company. Between 400 and 500 persons are now employed in the shops.

Mr. Baldwin's statement said that the new plan of operation was adopted with the idea that "local conditions can best be appreciated and most intelligently met by the knowledge and interest of local supervision and support."

Much of the maintenance and construction work of the railroad has heretofore been done by contractors in communities thru which the road runs, it was said.

ROADS' ANNOUNCEMENT

The announcement in part follows: "The Erie railroad has long been of the opinion that the most favorable result to both the railroad and the community it serves can best be obtained by the fullest cooperation and amalgamation of interests so far as possible. It recognizes that its duty to the public and the community along its line is that of furnishing transportation and, all the energies of its employees and officers should be directed so far as possible solely to this end."

LOCAL INTEREST

"Local conditions can best be appreciated and most intelligently met by the knowledge and interest of local supervision and support. The Erie railroad has shown its appreciation for the interest in its welfare indicated by citizens of Marion, and now that there is opportunity, desires that its activity shall be even more in common with the interests of the citizens."

"The Erie has accepted an opportunity to lease its shops and round houses to the Railway Service Company, whose officers and stockholders are all substantial and respected citizens of Marion and whose interests are those of the community. These men, headed by John D. Owens, as president, have had ample experience in the character of work to be performed and have made a success of previous undertakings and the railroad feels fortunate in having its work of repairs conducted by such a local company and the employees of the Railway Service Company are assured of fair treatment in accordance with the practice of the extensive manufacturing concerns of Marion."

Mr. Owens, the president of the Railway Service Company, is a manufacturer and banker and is a member of the Marion Employers' Association, an organization of local manufacturers.

A number of the larger manufacturing plants of Marion are represented in the Marion Employers' Association, and all of these are operated on an "open shop" basis.

U. S. Labor Board May Intervene

Chicago.—(By Associated Press).—Announcement at Marion, Ohio, that the Erie railroad had leased its shops and round houses there to a local operating company, which will handle the road's repair work, may bring intervention by the United States railway labor board if there is any evidence of a concerted plan on the part of the roads to follow the practice generally, a member of the board said today.

"If it is done to such an extent as to appear to be an evasion of the transportation act," the board said, "this board no doubt will take some action."

The Railway Service Company, formed at Marion to operate the leased shops, would not be subject to the board's jurisdiction under the transportation act, it was pointed out, as it is not a "common carrier" within the definition of the act. Hence, members of the board said, its employees would not come under the board's wage and rules orders. If the roads follow the leasing plan generally it will have the effect, a member of the board said, of removing the shop work from the benefits of the Esch-Cummings act. He advanced the opinion that the board would have the right to consider such a step a violation of the law.

MARYSVILLE RIOT LEADERS HERE

Lena Krug and Companions Sent to State Hospital

Lena Krug, sent up for murder and Betty Reese, for attempted murder and highway robbery, both from Akron; Bertha Slagle of Chillicothe and Lillian Steintz, Cleveland, who started a riot in the Marysville Reformatory for women, are inmates of the Lima State Hospital, having been received here late Saturday.

Since the riot at the reformatory, which occurred recently, the four women had been confined in the county jail at Marysville, where they were under observation by Dr. Stockton of the Columbus State hospital. It was on his recommendation that they were sent to the Lima institution.

According to statements from the reformatory, the women plotted to kill Mrs. Louise Mittenand, superintendent, her husband and other officials and then escape.

FIGHTS FOR LIFE OF EX-WIFE

Chicago Attorney Takes Up Defense of Mrs. Obenchain

BELIEVES HER INNOCENT

Will be Arraigned Today, Charged With Kennedy Murder

LOS ANGELES, Cal.—(By Associated Press).—When Mrs. Madalyn Obenchain is taken into court today to answer to a murder charge involving the death here August 5, of J. Belmont Kennedy, broker, Ralph B. Obenchain, her former husband, will be setting at counsel's table as her attorney.

Obenchain arrived here yesterday and after a conference in private with the prisoner, emphatically declared himself sure of his former wife's innocence.

On the same train from the east was the Rev. William A. Burck, of Evanston, Ill., who came to be at the side of his son, Arthur C. Burck, friend of Mrs. Obenchain and the dead man, also facing arraignment on the same charge.

PRINCIPALS TO MEET

The two principals in the case will meet in court for the first time since their incarceration.

Obenchain had little to say concerning his talk with his former wife. He said he tried to clear her up and asked her of his determination to fight for her despite the fact, he said, that she had once turned from him to receive the love of the young broker, who was slain and for whose death District Attorney Thomas Lee Woolwine expects her to account at the trial.

DEAD BABE FOUND IN WATER-ST

News Carrier Boy Makes Grewsome Find, Sunday

As Edgar Carnes, 12 1120 Arch-130 Arch-av was supplying customers on his route with the Sunday Lima News, he discovered a bundle hanging on a picket fence in Water-st, just off Elizabeth. In the bundle, beneath coverings of newspapers, was the body of a remarkably born babe.

After opening the bundle and determining the nature of its contents the boy wrapped it and took it to the Williams & Davis undertaking parlors and left without giving his name.

Later the police located the boy, who told them his story. Dr. V. H. Hay and Dr. E. H. Hedges were called to the undertaking parlors. They stated that the child had been born about five hours; that birth was premature and there was no life.

Dr. A. C. Adams, coroner, had not viewed the body Monday morning, and the police department had no trace, they stated, of the person or persons who left it.

"Ain't that a mean thing to do," was the comment made by the newsboy, "to throw a baby away."

RENEWAL OF WAR THREATENED

Peace Terms Laid Down By Lloyd George Rejected

INDEPENDENCE DEMANDED

Question May Be Submitted to Vote of People

LONDON.—(By Associated Press).—England today faced a crucial period in the negotiations looking to the "establishment of peace in Ireland. The action of the British government yesterday in making public the letters exchanged between Prime Minister Lloyd George and Eamon De Valera, Irish republican leader, showed the people that a virtual deadlock existed and, although the door was declared to have been left open for further overtures, it was apparent that the situation was one of considerable gravity.

UP TO DE VALERA

Reports from Dublin which might indicate what the Irish republicans would do to counter the unexpected move of the government in giving the correspondence to the press, were anxiously awaited. It appeared the next step should be made in that city, as Lloyd George literally "laid his cards on the table" yesterday, and it seemed De Valera and his colleagues must in turn make their move. Whether they would issue a statement today or would wait until the opening of the Irish republican parliament tomorrow, was uncertain.

The purpose of the precipitate action of the government in making public the British proposals and the demands of the Irish republicans had not been disclosed, but it would appear that the prime minister sought to lay the Irish problem before the country on the eve of the meeting of the Dail Eireann.

GRANT BRITAIN'S TERMS

The government terms were, in brief, as follows:

Domination status for Ireland, with complete autonomy in financial matters, but without tariff or trade restrictions between the islands. Ireland would maintain defense forces and police, but her territorial forces would be kept within "reasonable" limits.

Ireland would maintain her own postal system, but would grant England air defense and communication facilities. Ireland would have control of her own educational and industrial affairs, but the British navy would maintain its hold on the seas around the islands.

A share of the United Kingdom's debt would be assumed by Ireland, the exact amount to be fixed by arbitration.

De Valera, in reply, demanded full independence for Ireland, and suggested a treaty of association with the British commonwealth group. Treaties regarding trade and limitation of armament were urged by the Irish republican chieftain, together with mutual agreements as to air, railway and other communications. The Ulster problem would be left to the Irish, themselves, for solution. De Valera declaring that the employment of force "was not contemplated."

The attitude of the Ulster government was made plain by the making public at Belfast of a letter to Lloyd George from Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier. Sir James expressed the loyalty of his government to the empire and reiterated his readiness to confer with Lloyd George and the Sinn Fein as to some means of settling the Irish controversy, but declared he would not support the Sinn Fein in what he described as a move to coerce the government to "repudiate the Irish act" and to press for "wider powers."

Sir James said he would not interfere in any negotiations between the British government and the Irish republicans, but would stand ready to cooperate on equal terms with southern Ireland in carrying out any agreement they reach.

Most of London's newspapers in their comment on the new developments in the Irish situation this morning reflected the belief that the government's proposals offered a generous settlement of the controversy.

IRELAND MAY VOTE

DUBLIN.—(By Associated Press).—The people of Ireland, who have enjoyed a month of peace, found it hard today to believe that negotiations between Eamon De Valera and Prime Minister Lloyd George were at the breaking point. They were placing their hopes in the Irish republican parliament which will meet tomorrow to consider the whole correspondence and frame a reply to the prime minister's latest letter.

Suggestion has been made that the Dail Eireann may propose submission of the question to a plebiscite.

CLUSTER NOT SURPRISED

BELFAST.—(By Associated Press).—Little surprise was felt here at the tenor of the letter from Eamon De Valera to Prime Minister Lloyd George rejecting the government's offer of dominion status for Ireland, as talk of peace has been regarded with much skepticism.

It is pointed out that should the truce in southern Ireland be ended, the government's difficulties would be enormously increased thru having recognized the Sinn Fein as belligerents. A meeting of the Ulster cabinet has been called, although it is only indirectly interested. Sir James Craig, the premier, is growing shooting in Scotland.

HAYNES FOR TIGHT LID ON LIQUOR

Prohibition Chief Has Hopes For Parched Nation

DRY AS SAHARA DESERT

Does Not Refute Kramer's 100 Years Statement

By W. H. ATKINS

WASHINGTON — (International News Service) — Roy A. Haynes, "dry" battler of Ohio, now prohibition chief of the United States is a double-barreled optimist. But as a prophet he is as shy as a March hare.

Just ask Haynes what he thinks about the future aridity of America, and he will tell of his hopes, his ambitions and his airtight plans for control.

But as for a flat prediction of when the United States will begin to reduce its present "wetness" and become actually dry, in fact as well as in theory, he settles back in complacent silence and merely smiles.

To those who are yet to know the liquor law boss at close range it may be said that he wears an expansive and gracious smile that invites admiration because the man who wears it performs much more, or falls in despair in a task that means constant victories.

But behind this smile there may be much significance. Significance possibly because Haynes, just getting a toe-hold on his job, has begun to realize the immensity of the problems set before him for solution.

It is but fair to Haynes, his supporters all agree to concede that his job is one of the most difficult and perhaps one of the most thankless in the Government service. In the present frame of mind of the public over prohibition, and sentiment constantly shifting over the different angles of the question, Haynes admits that he does not expect that all of his acts will escape censure even from the "drys."

Haynes, in a good beginning, says he wants to be fair and square in liquor law enforcement. He does not want to grow frantic, acquiescing to demands of dry advocates regardless of the terms of the law, nor does he want to be so lenient that the bars will be let down for law-breaking.

MAY TAKE A CENTURY

Haynes would like to see the United States so dry in the next year that it will be impossible for an American to get a drink of liquor of any kind or degree of potency. Of course he modifies this by admitting that as Congress has specified, liquors have to be made available for medicinal needs.

As for beverage liquors, however, it is his ambition to put the lid on so tight that the country will be as dry as the well-known Sahara. He is careful to qualify his hopes, however, with the emphatic statement that they are not linked up with a prediction.

"I cannot predict when the country will be dry," said Haynes. "That is scarcely possible now. We hope for much. We are confident much will be done to improve enforcement and banish liquor for unlawful uses."

Haynes does not wish to appear in the light of a prophet. He takes the view that one might as well predict when the world will come to an end. He expressed interest in the prediction of his predecessor, John F. Kramer, that possibly a hundred years would pass before prohibition becomes an actual fact. He weighed that prediction thoughtfully. He would say nothing to upset it, realizing that Kramer had had considerable inside knowledge of conditions and must have based his well-considered statement upon something else than loose guessing.

21 ARRESTED.

AKRON. — Twenty-one alleged gamblers were to appear in municipal court Monday, following three raids conducted by police over the week end.

CHATS WITH YOUR GAS MAN

People speak of their public utilities (their gas, electric light, street railway and telephone companies) as "they," and of the men who work for them as "those men." Why not say "we," a friendly little word would serve to bring us all closer together!

And why shouldn't it be "we"? Because whether we are stockholders or not, we are part owners of these necessary public services, through the investments of trust companies, banks and insurance companies.

Yet how few of us think of this! Not one citizen out of a hundred realizes that in one form or another his actual savings and insurance and his wife's and children's welfare depend upon the prosperity and continued operation of the public utilities!

No need for sentiment here. The question is one of direct self-interest; of dollars and cents, our savings! So that when we see to it that our public utilities are kept in a healthy condition, we are doing the most natural thing in the world—we are merely protecting our own money.

SARAH COWEN'S TRAGIC DEATH RECALLS WILD CAREER OF OTHER RICH GIRLS

Victim of An Overdose of Drugs, Daughter of Former Railroad Magnate Ends Her Hectic Seasons—Brings to Mind the Stories of Others

BY MARGERY REX

NEW YORK.—Sarah Cowen, thirty-three, daughter of the late John K. Cowen, one-time president of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, died in New York a few days ago. An overdose of drugs, of which she was an addict, is believed to have been the immediate cause of her death. Alcoholism was also a contributing cause.

Another young woman of good family, whose life once was full of promise, came to the end of a "gay life, but a short one."

The announcement of Sarah Cowen's death will recall to many the somewhat similar case of Bettina Girard and Florence Schenck, who both fell from rather high estate, became victims of fast living, with drink a great factor in their certain moral and physical decay.

BETTINA SHOCKED

At thirty-six Bettina Girard died, leaving behind a reputation that shocked even those who knew her. As Betty Ordway, of Washington, daughter of General Albert Ordway, this girl, who possessed great beauty and charm found that the life of a society belle did not afford the excitement she craved, so she decided for a stage career.

The beautiful Bettina never needed a press agent. Her own exploits, carried out in a perfectly natural and offhand manner required no touch of any writer's imagination. But she became a slave of drink and was often arrested on charges of intoxication and disorderly conduct, till finally she died a pitiful wreck.

During the years of her mad career, her father, it is said, died of a broken heart. Her husband, her first, since she had seven altogether, was a millionaire. Her wedding to him was a great event, but only three months after the brilliant ceremony the bridegroom asked divorce.

She might have succeeded upon the stage with all her natural charms was it not for her enemy and bad habit, drink.

FLORENCE SCHENCK'S WILD CAREER

Florence Schenck was another who, after sad experience, warned girls against drink. The daughter of Dr. Powhatan Schenck, of Norfolk, Va., she ran away from home with a horse trainer, employee of Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, had a varied career, finally coming home to die after her father had removed her from a sanatorium. Like many who have followed similar modes of life, she sought solace and pleasure in drink, but ended by warning others against it. To a woman who once went to interview her she said:

"Tell girls that in the wine cup lies death and destruction. Once in the toils, no escape. It is the first step, and it is fathomless and pitiless."

"The girl who drinks is lost; she knows not what she does. She is not responsible."

"Oh, these girls who run away from home and take up with strange idols, no human tongue can tell what they suffer."

"Tell them," she begged, "that when they become physically wrecked and can add nothing more to the amusement of the tempter they will be deserted and humiliated."

This may be a late day to repeat the warnings against drink, yet now we hear a great deal about another pernicious habit, that of drug taking. In another period Sarah Cowen, who died a few days ago, might have had the drink habit. In this day she gave herself up to the influence of narcotic drugs.

CLARA WARD'S TEMPERAMENTAL LIFE

Still another fascinating young American woman, Clara Ward, left her titled husband, Prince de Chimay, when the strains of the gypsy violinist Rigo's music called her. She was the daughter of Eber B. Ward, of Detroit, at one time the richest man in Michigan. He was himself eccentric, but his daughter surpassed his oddities. She gave up her education in Europe at seventeen when she was heiress to $4,000,000, and married Prince de Chimay. Many affairs of the heart were credited to her.

One night, in a Paris cafe, she heard Rigo's alluring notes. Not long after the two, dressed as gypsies, eloped and finally married after the Prince obtained a divorce. It was said Rigo stole her from the embraces of kings. But "gypsy love" proved very expensive for Clara Ward.

The American Princess bought Rigo a palace on the Nile, a private menagerie, a prince's wine cellar, Arabian horses, and other substantial expressions of love.

Later she left Rigo for a porter she met on a train in Italy, and from then on Rigo felt free to seek other admirers.

Not long ago, in an East Side restaurant, where he fiddled for sightseers, Rigo was informed of the extravagant Clara Ward's death. He expressed his regret, but was not profoundly sorrowful for the woman who took him up in such luxuries, fashion only to leave him later.

To all these young women death seems to come as welcome release from the disillusionment and accumulated worries that have crowded in to their short lives.

The American Princess bought Rigo a palace on the Nile, a private menagerie, a prince's wine cellar, Arabian horses, and other substantial expressions of love.

Later she left Rigo for a porter she met on a train in Italy, and from then on Rigo felt free to seek other admirers.

Not long ago, in an East Side restaurant, where he fiddled for sightseers, Rigo was informed of the extravagant Clara Ward's death. He expressed his regret, but was not profoundly sorrowful for the woman who took him up in such luxuries, fashion only to leave him later.

To all these young women death seems to come as welcome release from the disillusionment and accumulated worries that have crowded in to their short lives.

OATS "SPIKED" IN SUGAR BEET WAR

Lucas-co Farmers Find Iron Bolts in Grain Stocks

TOLEDO — (By United Press) — Farmers residing in the vicinity of Curtice, in Lucas-co, are stirred up over the finding of spikes and iron bolts in shocks of oats and which did serious damage to a threshing machine last week.

The matter has been reported to authorities and investigation of the alleged sabotage is to be made.

Some declared the oats were "spiked" because of a sugar beet war in Lucas-co and vicinity.

At the home of Will Deakman, a threshing machine was damaged severely when shocks of oats that contained six iron spikes, a piece of iron, and a wagon bolt, went thru the machine.

At the farms of O. B. Huse and Peter Davis, neighbors of Deakman, spikes hidden in shocks of oats also damaged the threshing machine.

Owners of the farms where the spikes and bolts were found declare that the objects were placed there because the three have been raising sugar beets.

About two-thirds of the farmers in this vicinity belong to an association and have not been raising sugar beets because they were not satisfied with the price offered by the sugar beet company, one of the farmers said today.

"Some of us planted beets, as we do not belong to the association. When I planted them, I received a threat that trouble would be made for me if I insisted on raising beets."

BITTER CHARGES FEATURE SHIPPING BOARD HEARING

NEW YORK.—Bitter charges and counter-charges featured the legal battle for possession of the nine shipping board ships chartered to the United States Mail Steamship Company, which was resumed before Judge Nathan in the Federal district court today. The shipping board's answer to the injunction which prevented it from seizing the vessels in dispute, contains charges that the United States Mail was insolvent when the seizure was attempted.

The vessels were to be seized, the board's answer says, to prevent innocent creditors of the company from being further duped.

Bainbridge Colby, associate counsel for the company and a law partner of ex-president Wilson, today said, in reply to these charges, that "the story of the conspiring efforts to wreck the United States Mail will be fully related in the courts."

COL. COIT'S ASHES TO E BURIED AT COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS.—The remains of Colonel A. B. Coit, who commanded the fourth Ohio Infantry in the Spanish-American war, will be brought from San Diego, Calif., for burial here, it was announced today by officials of the Spanish War Association.

Colonel Coit's body was cremated. He died last April.

Public funeral services will be held in Memorial Hall here Sunday afternoon, October 9, with burial the following day.

Companies of the fourth Ohio from Marion, Washington, C. H., Portsmouth and Mt. Vernon will come for services.

TROOPS CALLED TO GUARD FACTORIES IN STRIKE

CONCORD, N. C. — Two companies of state militia were held in readiness here today to suppress possible disorders growing out of the reopening of a number of cotton mills, closed several months because of a strike of operatives. Several thousand workers were on strike, and minor disturbances last week, when several of the smaller mills resumed, led city and county authorities to appeal to Governor Morrison to send troops today as a precautionary measure.

The strike was called June 1, following a wage cut of about 40 per cent. With the general reopening of mills today the authorities feared the situation might get out of control.

COURT IN ROLE OF PEACE MAKER IN FAMILY JANGLE

If Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Gilmore, 241 1-2 S. Main-st., can live together in harmony all will be well and good. But if they can't—well, therein lies the tale.

Gilmore, upon complaint of his wife, was arraigned before Judge Jackson in criminal court Monday, charged with assault. Mrs. Gilmore was there to testify against him. This she did.

Judge Jackson after listening to both sides of the story and learning the couple wished to start anew, fined Gilmore $25 and sentenced him to 30 days in the county jail.

The fine and sentence was suspended, provided Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore go back and live happily afterwards.

AUTO IS WRECKED.

An automobile owned by Ray T. Olmsted, 277 Madison-st., agent for the Union News company, with headquarters at the Ohio Electric station, was badly wrecked when it collided with a passing car near Yoder, Saturday night. Olmsted escaped without injury.

OBITUARY

Harold John, Jr., little son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Decker, was born May 17, 1921, and died today, aged 1 year, 2 months, 21 days.

It was a member of the cradle roll of the Second St. M. E. Church. Its little mind and heart was just beginning to open enough to distinguish the names of papa and mamma.

This short sweet life budded on earth to bloom in heaven. Although its suffering was great, it bore it bravely, as it went through its short life, with a smile.

It leaves a father and mother, two grandmothers, one grandfather, three great grandmothers, and two great grandfathers besides lots of other relatives and friends.

Sleep on, our darling so dear, And get your rest, God called you home, He thought it best.

CHILD BORN TO DESERTED WIFE FOR WHOM $500 WAS GIVEN BY LIMA PEOPLE

In a soft, downy bed at City hospital a tiny mite of humanity, nestling close to its mother's breast, in the same soft couch, gazing tenderly at her new-born, is the son of the mother, who went down into the valley of the shadow of death that the little one might have life.

It was for this mother and babe that The Lima Daily News made a campaign early in July to secure funds to prevent the mother from being forced to give her then unborn babe to the care of others.

Generous-hearted citizens of Lima responded willingly to the call. Within a week the amount of $500 was raised with which to tide over the mother until such a time as she could leave her baby and go out and work for her little brood.

For she had no husband to stay by her in the trying ordeal—no one to whom she might appeal in the hour of distress. The husband and father had deserted his wife and babies.

Four other little children, all of tender years, are anxiously awaiting the time when they can see "little sister" at the hospital. They are at the Allen-co Children's home.

The little one opened its eyes to this world Sunday evening at 5:50 o'clock.

The mother has not yet found a name for her little girl. She now has three boys and two girls.

But it does not matter about the name. The child will be well taken care of and every person who contributed to the cause may rest assured it will go direct to the care of mother and baby, to add the little one to reach the age where mother and children may be reunited in a happy home of their own, with the most interesting of all—the new baby girl, as the chief attraction.

DAVIS TO PROBE PRISON CASE

Will Investigate Release of Two Convicts, He Says

COLUMBUS.—(By United Press) —Governor Davis today promised immediate investigation of the releases of Leonard Lyons and Walter Brant, Cleveland gunman and burglar, from the Ohio penitentiary.

"I am going to the bottom of the Leonard Lyons and Walter Brant cases at the Ohio penitentiary," Davis said.

The two men were freed from the Ohio penitentiary several weeks ago by the old board of clemency, without going through the formality of parole. The board exercised its power of "conditional release" in both cases.

The governor learned today that the old board held a session a few hours before going out of existence June 30 and released Brant. Had they fixed his release for the next day, the new state board of pardons would have been in effect.

"I am determined to find out the influences that brought about the release of these two men," Davis said.

AUTO AND HORSE THEFT CHARGE

One Admits Charge, While Other Denies Guilt

Alleged automobile and horse thieves were incarcerated in the Allen-co jail at the same time Monday.

Sam Archer, 30, Toledo, is held on the charge of auto theft, in the sum of $3,000 by Justice Botkin. Archer was arrested in Toledo Saturday. He pleaded not guilty when arraigned Monday and his hearing is set for August 24. Until then he is held in the county jail.

Archer's wife was with him in court and also visited him at the jail Monday. She said he could provide $1,500, but she feared would not be able to make the $3,000.

Archer is declared to have driven away a new Ford car, belonging to E. F. Fitzgerald, N. McDonald-st.

George Caspol, horse-trader, Bowling Green, pleaded guilty when arraigned in Justice Botkin's court Monday to theft of a horse, owned by Ben Smith, S. Jackson-st. Caspol worked for Smith. He went away and Caspol took his horse and drove to Bowling Green to visit his mother, where he was arrested. He is held in $300 bond.

Both men were remanded to the jail at the same time by Constable Ira Snyder, after Justice Botkin had imposed sentence.

COAL THEFT CHARGES; TWO MEN ARE FINED

John Alcoe III, 28, of 103 E. Third-st., and Mike Feneasa, 43, 100 E. Third-st., were arrested Saturday night, charged with the theft of coal, were each fined $10 and costs when arraigned in Justice Ernest Botkin's court, Monday.

The men were unable to pay the fines and costs. They paid an installment and told Justice Botkin they would bring in the remainder as soon as they could earn it.

Charges were filed by detectives of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

SENATOR HOPLEY PAYS COMPLIMENT TO LIMA

Senator "Jim" Hopley, the Bucyrus statesman and newspaper publisher was the speaker at the Lima Rotary club's luncheon, Monday.

The Senator pointed out that business men continue to compare this with last year, the world's business period, or with two years ago, and that neither comparison is just.

"Compare your business with 1917," said the Senator, "and you will find things are not so bad, but are beautifully good." Senator Hopley complimented Lima on its many modern improvements and told taxpayers they were getting something for their money and to be optimistic when taxpaying comes around again.

AGREEMENT SEEN IN WAGE CONFAB

O. E. Officials and Carmen Seek Amicable Settlement

While officials of the Ohio Electric and union leaders stated that they had made their last offer Monday noon, both sides entered the conference at Springfield expressing hope that a settlement would be made.

The conference, the fourth to be held between the company and its employees, commenced at noon Monday. James Largay, representing the union trainmen, declared emphatically that the men will not accept the last offer made by the company.

The new scale of wages offered by the traction system, carries with it a proposed cut of from 16 to 20 per cent in the present scale.

Largay intimated, however, that the men are willing to compromise. Officials of the company, among whom is J. H. McClure, president, are quoted as having stated that the company has made its best offer and can go no farther.

Reports from Springfield are to the effect, however, that they may recede from this stand at the afternoon confab.

J. J. Poage, leader of the local carmen, stated that until the outcome of the Springfield conference was known, he could say nothing regarding the future action of the union.

The present wage agreement, calling for rate of pay secured under wartime conditions, will expire at midnight Monday.

The old scale called for the following rates of pay: City carmen, first three months 44 cents an hour, with a raise to 49 cents for the next nine months and a jump to 57 cents after the first year. On interurban lines the men draw 46 cents as beginners, 52 cents for the next nine months and 60 cents hourly after one year's service. All men worked 10 hours.

That a settlement is expected at Monday's conference has been intimated in the past two days by local officials. Announcement was made by F. A. Bundy, minimizing the possibilities of a strike.

DEATH IS PROBED

Man's Body Found on Railroad Near Cincinnati

CINCINNATI. — (By Associated Press) — The finding of the body of John R. Rodgers, 38, battery worker, of this city, along the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad tracks at Bridge-town, Sunday morning, with a bullet wound thru the chest, caused Coroner D. C. Handley to order an inquest today.

Teddy Tidwalter, negro, told the coroner that he heard a shot as he and Rodgers started to enter a box car during a storm. Tidwalter said that after Rodgers fell he hurried to another part of the train not waiting to find who fired the shot.

U. S.-SOVIET NEGOTIATIONS ON RELIEF DEADLOCKED

RIGA, Latvia.—A deadlock was reached today in the negotiations relative to American relief for Russia's famine-stricken areas between the American relief administration and Maxim Litvinoff, acting on behalf of the Soviet famine relief committee. Action by Washington and Moscow will be necessary to decide the issue, it is declared.

Whether the American relief administration will compromise on some of its usual methods and permit the Soviets greater control of the personnel and distribution of American food than has been granted other countries which had been aided, had been put up to Herbert Hoover, head of the relief administration by Walter Lyman Brown, European director of the administration.

PASTOR RESIGNS IN CHICAGO CHURCH CLASH

CHICAGO.—Resignation of the Rev. Leon Pigeas as pastor of the Greek church of St. Trinity, to which Germanos Troianos, bishop of America, recently was appointed by King Constantine, was announced today as the latest move in the contest for control of the church by two factions.

When Bishop Troianos came here to establish a new regime a few days ago, members of the congregation applied for temporary injunction restraining him from taking charge. The Rev. Pigeas then resigned to avoid trouble because the court had given Bishop Troianos permission to attend the church and it was feared that this might provoke actual combat according to the Rev. Pigeas' attorney.

OHIO'S VESUVIUS NOW EXTINCT

Famous Smoking Hill in Ross Co Disappears

FEARED AS SECOND POMPEII

Fiery Furnace for Period of Eleven Years

CHILLICOTHE.—(By Associated Press)—Ohio's "Vesuvius" is no more. Copernicus Mountain, in the southwestern corner of Ross co, that used to glow at night and smoke in the daytime, now is nothing more than a bulk against the skyline.

For nine years, the "smoking hill" has been extinct, farmers who live in the vicinity of the big bare hill say. The mountain used to attract scientific investigators and tourists from all over the state.

PEOPLE FLED
Every Sunday saw a pilgrimage, and strangely enough, have a special article in The Cleveland Plain Dealer, many persons thought the smoking hill was a volcano.

Some people are said to have sold their property and moved out of the neighborhood, fearing that some day the district would become a second Pompeii.

The hill is said to have smoked intermittently for eleven years. For periods running from two to three years, the burning apparently would be in a state of quiescence. Then the fires would break out again. This, of course, would intensify the curiosity of the people as to what was the cause.

The real reason for the burning still is a matter of controversy. A great portion of the hill is devoid of vegetation, thus eliminating the forest fire theory.

COMPOSED OF OIL SHALE

The hill, composed largely of oil shale, is furrowed with innumerable little gullies, washed out by the course of rainfall down the slopes. These became filled with dry vegetation, and some scientists asserted that combustible action set in among this refuse; that the heat started the oil in the shale to burning and boiling, thereby starting the long fires.

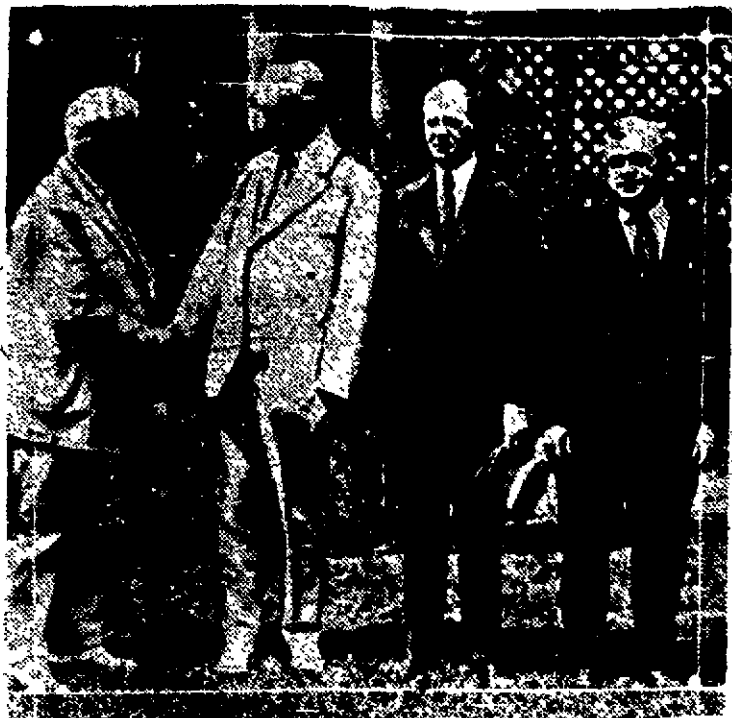

At night the drift-packed gullies, smoldering, would give to the hill a most realistic appearance of a volcano, with red streams of lava running down its sides. In daylight, the smoking shale would present a similar appearance.

This explanation is the one generally accepted. But whatever the cause of the starting and stopping of the fires, the fact remains that Ross County hasn't any volcano now.

MISS CLARK IN CHARGE
AT CITY AUDITOR OFFICE

During the absence of City Auditor David L. Rupert, who left for a two weeks trip in the wilds of northern Michigan, Miss Irene Clark, deputy, will be in charge of the office. Miss Clark returned Friday from two weeks spent in visiting summer resorts along Lake Erie, as far east as Buffalo.

President Harding was last week made a member of the Eagles. After taking the obligation he was presented with a gold membership card to the Marion Aero by John A. Morin of Pittsburgh, grand worthy vice president of the order.

HITS OIL, DROPS HEART SUIT

Denver Girl Forgets Balm When "Gusher" Comes In

DENVER.—(By International News Service).—Miss Lucille Nemic, pretty Denver girl, forgot all about her broken heart and the $25,000 "balm" required to mend it when she "struck it rich" in Oklahoma oil lands, and secured dismissal of a breach of promise suit against J. Howard Stark, wealthy Denver jeweler.

The suit was dismissed by Judge J. C. Morley, in district court upon the plaintiff's agreement to pay all court costs.

Miss Nemic filed her suit against Stark early in 1920, and a flutter of excitement followed in smart social circles here when she admitted, during the course of a preliminary hearing, that she had been "friendly" with several prominent Denver men besides Stark. She denied, however, that this "friendship" was other than platonic.

Questions asked by Stark's attorneys in the preliminary hearing, indicated that sensational testimony involving persons socially prominent might have been expected if the suit had come to trial.

Recently, it is reported, oil in valuable commercial quantities has been discovered on lands in Oklahoma owned jointly by Miss Nemic and her parents, and the pretty plaintiff decided to abandon her chase for heart-balm—and the accompanying punitive damages.

Attorneys for Stark declared there had been no "outside settlement" with Miss Nemic.

MORE CANDIDATES FILE ACCOUNTS OF EXPENSE

But four additional expense accounts, showing expenses of candidates for nomination in the primary August 9, were filed at the board of elections Monday.

The five candidates named by the Committee of 200 submitted statements showing their personal expenditures. None of the five spent anything, the statements show, all expense having been cared for by the committee.

W. H. Shaffer, Democrat, for city auditor at Delphos spent $12.40; R. H. Lindeman, candidate for Solicitor, Stephen H. Wahmhoff, for treasurer and E. C. Stegman for assessor, had no expenses in making their campaign. There was no opposition for their places, save for auditor.

There are 11 vacancies in townships in Allen co, outside of Lima, to be filled at the November election. Each township is entitled to two justices, but in many cases one incumbent either has resigned or failed to qualify. A. J. Morris, clerk of the election board stated.

"NORMALCY" IS RESUMED WITH JUDGE'S RETURN

With the return of Judge Emmett J. Jackson condition in criminal court here reached "normalcy" Monday morning. There has been no court held since last Monday when Judge Jackson left for a week's trip to Niagara Falls. The judge returned to Lima Sunday, and Monday found him "doing business at the same old stand."

Four alleged drunks greeted the judge upon his return to the bench.

BAILEY DECLARES SELF BANKRUPT

Auglaize-co Farmer Fails—Wapakoneta News

WAPAKONETA.—(Special).—Gilbert W. Bailey, Union-tp farmer, Saturday filed in Federal court in Toledo a petition in involuntary bankruptcy. His assets are given at $7,253 and his liabilities $14,894.75. Bailey has been the manager of the Martha Allen farm of 360 acres, near St. Johns. The proceedings have been referred to Referee in Bankruptcy H. D. Grindle of Lima and a meeting of creditors is to be held soon.

It is claimed that Bailey lost large sums of money in the tile business here and that short crops and low prices forced him to throw his affairs into court for adjustment.

An improvement expected to cost $200,000 has been ordered by the commissioners of Shelby, Logan and Auglaize cos, as a result of a meeting of the combined boards held in Bellefontaine. It is proposed to deepen, widen and dredge the channel of the Miami river and Mucinippi creek in the three counties, for better drainage of farm lands.

The Minister Home Builders' company, organized in 1910, has closed up its affairs and surrendered its charter.

Growing out of the failure of the Eastern Auglaize-co Cooperative company, with grain elevators at Waynesfield and New Hampshire, it is proposed by the stockholders to reorganize two separate companies, for $35,000 at New Hampshire and $25,000 at Waynesfield.

DRY LEADERS SEE WET MANEUVER

Anti-Saloonists Held War Council at Columbus

COLUMBUS.—(By Associated Press).—The Ohio Anti-Saloon league today was considering means of combating what dry leaders characterize as a "final effort of wet forces to stage a comeback."

District superintendents of the dry organization went into conference at the Central Y. M. C. A. here early today with James A. White, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league to consider the prohibition question in general and the latest move of the wets in particular.

The conference was closed to the public, but a peep-in on the meeting disclosed piles of documents on the table which were being referred to by the various speakers. It is understood that the question of prohibition enforcement with all its varied angles also is being discussed by the dry workers. About 25 were at the conference according to Mr. White.

Superintendent White asserted that the conference is the regular conference of district superintendents each year about this time and that nothing out of the ordinary was under consideration. He said he would issue a statement later in the day on the purpose and result of the conference.

WOMAN DEMANDS JURY TRIAL IN POLICE COURT

When arraigned before Judge Emmett Jackson in police court here Monday on a charge of conducting a house of ill fame, Laura Williams, 35, nee, 251 N. Central-ave, pleaded not guilty. Her trial was set for Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. The woman demanded a trial by jury.

The Williams woman, according to police, was arrested Friday at her home in company with Jim Patterson, 30, white, of Toledo. No charges have been placed against Patterson by police.

CHINA BOARD, U. S. AIM, JAPS HEAR

Reported Idea of Commission Control Stirs Tokio

TOKIO.—(By Associated Press).—Reports from America that the United States may suggest control of China by an international commission are understood to have been considered at the meeting of the Japanese cabinet yesterday.

Viscount Uchida, foreign minister, told members of the cabinet, according to the Yomi Uri Shimbun, that if such a suggestion was made it was a matter of grave importance upon which Japan must carefully deliberate. The newspaper says the ministers are becoming impressed with the necessity of having young and able diplomats at the Washington conference to strongly present Japan's position. Some favor the appointment of M. Shidehara, present ambassador at Washington, as chief delegate.

Japan is studying the advisability of proposing an international standing council for the guidance and development of China, says the Kokumin Shimbun. The work of this council would be based upon the idea of the powers, abandonment of sphere of influence and all other measures, including extra-territoriality, which are inimical to China's complete sovereignty. The unification of north and south China also would be sought, the newspaper asserts.

BORDER GUARDED IN RUM FIGHT

U. S. Forces Posted to Check Canadian Liquor Flow

DETROIT, Mich.—(By Associated Press).—A conference here between Ray C. Vandercreek, state commissioner of public safety; Chas. P. Campau, Detroit representative of the state public safety commission and other state officials was set for today to consider plans for stemming the flood of liquor reported to be coming into the United States from Canada across the Detroit river.

Upon the conference today will hinge the future activity of state officials, Mr. Campau announced.

A O. Graham, federal prohibition director for Michigan, with headquarters here, declared he had not received notice of the conference early today, but expected to cooperate with the state officials.

Reports from Canadian border cities showed a decline in the number of liquor shipments over Sunday. Detroit police patrolled the entire river front within the Detroit city limits yesterday and last night, but no arrests were made and no beer or liquor was sent. Police officials expressed the opinion today that none of the beer or whisky sent from Canada was received directly in Detroit.

State officials were unable to say what form the campaign against rum runners would take, but intimated that forces would be concentrated at strategic points along the American border to seize all shipments that might be brought to this side. A careful watch was being kept today of all motor boats on the river.

IS PEACE THREATENED?

FOR more than a hundred years the border line between the United States and Canada has been more theoretical than actual, due to the absence of frowning guns and forts and the presence of armed troops on either side. Keeping the dogs of war away from the border has resulted in peace never having been seriously threatened since this country became a republic and having adjusted her difficulties with England finally.

Trouble now appears from a new source. Since a Canadian court has ruled that the exportation of intoxicating liquor into the United States from that country is legal, despite the fact that this country is "dry" territory, has started a flow of hard liquor across the border line during the past few days in greater quantities than ever before.

Many arrests have been made, armed men have been rushed to various points to intercept incoming liquor and capture the rum runners. If Canada stands on its rights, as promulgated by its courts and the United States decides that its mandate for the government of its own people shall take precedence over the Canadian decision, it is pretty easy to guess that there is a possibility of something really more serious than scattered cases of whisky running across the border.

However, cool judgment and common sense, for which the Canadians are noted, will very likely come into play and provide a remedy for a situation that is just now appearing rather awkward. The Canadian decision affects Canadian rum runners only so far as the border. Beyond that point, infractions of the laws of the United States will make the guilty ones amenable to our laws.

Viewed from any angle, the decision of the Canadian courts is not an aid to the enforcement of the prohibition law in this country and in time, if the practice of smuggling in liquor is continued, it is more than likely that armed forces will patrol the border, a condition that has not prevailed in a century. And there is always more or less trouble when the forces of neighboring countries face one another.

HARDING'S DECISION

NOW that it has been definitely decided that Secretary of State Charles Evans Hughes is to head the American delegation attending the disarmament congress, all conjecture as to the part President Harding is to play in the affair has been removed—on the surface.

President Harding probably sees an opportunity to profit by what was looked upon by the people as a mistake on the part of President Wilson, when he was too actively engaged in the peace conference. With representatives of his own choosing in the disarmament congress, it would be silly to hint that President Harding will be entirely aloof. That he will be the power behind the scenes is generally accepted. The only difference between Harding and Wilson will be that Harding will permit another to do the limelighting while he does the directing from the wings.

It is not fair for those who scout the sincerity of the nations on the question of disarmament or limiting of armament to predict failure of the plan. Whether motives are pure or not, judgment should be withheld until it has been proven a success or a failure.

AUTO REGISTRATION

OWNERS of automobiles who made purchase of the cars before the new registration law goes into effect, have been of the opinion that they would not be required, under the provisions of the measure, to file a bill of sale or sworn statement of ownership with the county clerk.

That belief has been shattered by County Clerk of Courts John T. Cotner, who rules that the law applies equally to cars purchased before or after August 17, when the new law becomes effective. Cotner holds to this ruling despite the fact that Attorney General Price declares that where new cars are purchased from dealers or manufacturers prior to August 17, no sworn statement is needed. Cotner warns that auto owners are taking a chance by failure to file certificates.

This decision on the part of the county clerk has brought about a new rush of motorists to the court house.

IRISH PEACE PROSPECT

THAT peace in Ireland is at this time nearer than at any time in years, is apparent, although the offer made by Great Britain is not altogether satisfactory in its present form. President DeValera is playing the game carefully, refusing to permit himself to act hastily. England's offer to DeValera of dominion over 26 counties, comprising the Sin Fein Section, the Irish President is loath to accept, in view of the attitude of Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, who refuses to negotiate with DeValera and is standing for the present form of government of Ulster.

General Jan C. Smuts, South African premier, urges DeValera to accept the terms offered and give Ulster time to decide to join the South of Ireland. It believed that peace in the turbulent island is now only a matter of time.

CITY BACKS DOWN

ANNOUNCEMENT that the commissioners of Allen-co ordered resumed the work on a $20,000 paving improvement in E. Kibby-st, after a delay of nearly a month, is received with pleasure by Lima citizens as a whole. That public sentiment generally deplored the action of an official of the city in ordering the county commissioners to pay for water used in the boilers of steam road rollers engaged on the project, has been very pronounced.

While regretting that such a thing should intervene when the county was giving the city $20,000 worth of street paving free of charge, the commissioners felt that so long as such a spirit prevailed the work should not proceed.

There is evidence that somebody higher up got busy and brought about a reversal of the order demanding pay for water. At any rate, the embargo is off, the county will not be required to pay for water for steam generating purposes and work on E. Kibby-st has been resumed. The incident is closed.

COMPULSORY EDUCATION

A NEW law is in force in Ohio, relative to the education of the youth, which extends the school period from six to 16 years to six to 18 years. New advantages are also enjoined for affording children the opportunity to attain a high school education, after completing the ordinary grade curriculum.

School boards have authority, where it is deemed best to do so, to advance the starting requirement from six to seven years. The laws are broadened also regarding the requirement of furnishing transportation for children far removed from a school.

A county attendance officer is provided and the law will deal severely with those parents who are remiss in their duty of seeing to it that children attend school.

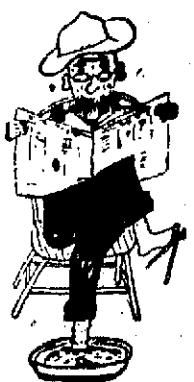

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

STATE health authorities have issued a warning to physicians and parents to be on guard against a spread of infantile paralysis at this season. Some cases have made their appearance in Ohio.

Parents are urged to call a physician if any symptoms of this dreaded malady develop. So far, no cases have been reported in Lima.

On Nassau, or Fulton, or Chambers, or Bleeck—Er, or Forty-first, Broadway or Mott, At any old hour each day of the week, I spy the one girl that I've sought. Sometimes she's a blonde and sometimes a brunette, She's willowy, or she is petite. Her hair ranges all shades, from golden to jet—I see her—that's all—never meet.

Her eyes may be blue like the mid-summer sky Or gray like an overcast day, But never a glance do they throw me, while I Adore as she passes my way.

Her name is Capozzi, or Olson, or Katz, Or Astorblit, Hogan or Feet. There is only one thing I'm sure of, and that's I could love her—if we'd only meet.

Oh, ladies, fair ladies, why worry me so? Just tip me off. Who is there, who That you really and truly and actually know And can best introduce me to you? ENRICHED

Looking back, it seems to me All the griefs which had to be Left me, when the pain was o'er, Richer than I'd ever been before, And by every hurt and blow Suffered in the long ago, I can face the world today In a bigger, kinder way.

Pleasure doesn't make the man, Life requires a sterner plan. He who never knows a care Never learns what he can bear, He who never sheds a tear Never lives thru days of fear, Has no courage he can show When the winds of winter blow.

When the nights were dark and bleak And in vain I strove to seek

Reasons for my bitter grief, When I faltered in belief, Little did I think or know, I should find it better so; But today I've come to see, What those sorrows meant to me.

I am richer by the tears I have shed in earlier years; I am happier each morn' For the burdens I have borne; And for what awaits me yet, By the trials I have met I am stronger for I know What it means to bear a blow.

DON'T NAME MY BOY.
Quoting from an address entitled "A Father's Responsibility to His Son," by Charles M. Baker, M. D., and F. C. D., delivered June 19 before the Tenth Annual Rotary Convention at Salt Lake City, Utah:
"...I do not believe in the teaching of sex hygiene to children in the public schools under high school age. (Applause). I don't want my child to have his mind instructed on this most important, and if you please, sacred matter, by a stranger, who has no affection or love for him."
The same, logical, wise and sensible way to deal with this problem is by the father with his own boy in the home and the mother with her own daughter in the home; that it is not a question to be left to strangers; that it is not a question that should come to these boys and girls from the public schools. (Applause).
The natural way, to be sure, is for the father to instruct his son and the mother her daughter—but very few fathers and mothers are competent to do so, because of the one fact that this part of their own education was neglected when they went to school.
I want my children instructed on this sacred question in the public school from grade 1 of the primary department right on up thru the very last year of high school. I think the public school teacher is quite as competent and safe to teach my children sex hygiene as he or she is to teach them physiology, mathematics or history. There is something radically wrong with the very notion of instructing children in such a matter if the instruction is unfit for a school teacher to impart. The great drawback about too much matter masquerading under the refined title of sex hygiene is that the stuff is stilted, insincere, mysterious and in effect more harmful than helpful to the curious child. If we can't be entirely frank and sincere with our children, it would be far better to revert to the wicked old alibi of the stork and the shameful trick of suppressing a child's curiosity by hinting that "such things are not proper to talk about."
I should dislike to send my children to school if I thought the teacher or teachers were not morally responsible. I should hate to have my children taught even geography by a teacher I did not respect and trust.
I want my children to have an honest, liberal education. I don't want to try to train them with bladders on. Right-minded instruction in so-called hygiene should begin as early as the child begins to ask questions, be it three, six, nine or twelve years. Rightly trained school teachers should be provided in every school that pretends to train the young mind in the way it should go, to impart this knowledge to children from the primary grades up thru every grade of common school.

PARADISE BEND

By WILLIAM PATTERSON WHITE

I was walking past the bankhouse with Blakely, an' this fellow was out in front with his shirt off a'washin' himself. An' I seen a eagle tattooed on his chest in blue, an' underneath a heart with a R on one side an' a T on the other. Just before yore 'cook pulled his freight his shirt got tore, an' I seen his chest, an' there was the eagle an' the heart an' the two letters R and T.

"What was his name at the R?"

"I never knowed. He wasn't one o' the reg'lar workin' men, an' he was a year. He's always earned his pay. I dunno what it means. It's mysterious when yuh think o' what O'Leary asked me when I first hit the bend. 'Couldn't Sam come?' says O'Leary to me. Beats out into the street to say it, too."

"I remember," said Scotty, thoughtfully. "I wonder who he took yuh for?"

"One o' Blakely's outfit, o' course," replied Loudon. "It was that 88 brand, o' Rangers done the trick. 'Couldn't Sam come?' says he. Then he says, 'It's all right. I'm Pete O'Leary.' One day he come out to the ranch an' stopped just long enough to make shore I was there, see? I tell yuh flat, Scotty, Sam Blakely's almin' to put a crimp in yuh. I wish yuh'd let me injun 'round some an' see what's up."

The two men reached Rocket before midnight and roused the citizens.

"Hoss thief!" bawled Loudon. "He's ridin' a long-legged chestnut with a white spot on his nose. Fellah with him on a black horse, name Black, sheriff o' Port Creek county, was tarred an' feathered in Paradise Bend this afternoon."

Loudon told the tale. Rocket, that's certain, observed Scotty, when the last Rocketer had departed. "We can't trail 'em tonight, an' by tomorrow they'll be forty mile off. What are yuh figurin' on doin'?"

"Might as well wander back where we come from. Later, two or three weeks maybe, I'm goin' south."

"Say, who's the postmaster here?" Loudon asked.

"Me," was the landlord's weary reply.

"A couple o' days ago," said Loudon, "a letter addressed to John PATTERN FOR TODAY"

KIDDIES ROMP IN SALOONS NOW

Wiscon's Drinking Places Brought Under Drastic Law

MADISON, Wis.—(By Associated Press)—The saloons of Wisconsin are to be made places fit for children to visit, W. Stanley Smith, prohibition commissioner declares in announcing his intention to strictly enforce provisions of the new state enforcement measure which calls for cleaning out of former liquor establishments.

Standing bars, as such, are to be done away with under dictum of the prohibition commissioner and the attorney general. Evidence of a legal battle over this order of the enforcement officer based on the new statute, sprang up shortly after it went into effect.

WILL BE TESTED

Saloon-keepers have organized in Shuboygan and Manitowoc counties, and have raised funds to fight the new law to the supreme court before disturbing their bars. Their attitude is not to be taken seriously, "in the opinion of Commissioner Smith, who points out that the constitutional right of the state to provide definite regulations in return for a license is well established."

Some sections of the state are complying with the new regulations without objection, saloon-keepers removing their bars completely or placing them in compliance with the law as interpreted by the attorney general.

The recent interpretation declares that bars, if maintained, cannot be used, and in addition must be so located as to have the space behind them completely open to view from the street.

PROHIBITION VIEWS

"We believe that by opening up saloons in this manner the temptation to engage in illicit sale of liquor will be completely done away with," Commissioner Smith said. "Saloons are the greatest violators of the prohibition laws, and when properly licensed and opened to the public view they will not be in a position to continue their illicit trade without easily being detected."

The commissioner reports a general co-operation of district attorneys of the state which he says is doing much to help him enforce the new measure.

Double-day in Paradise Bend was noted here. Remember who mailed it?

"'Couldn't say, stranger,'" yawned the landlord. "I didn't see the man, woman, child, or injin what mailed it. Three days ago when I got up in the mornin' an' went outside I found that letter an' two bits a-layin' on the doorstep. I clamps on a stamp an' sends her along when the up-stage pulls in."

Next mornin' the thunderous clamor of a beaten dishpan reverberated thru the hotel. The hideous din ceased abruptly and the voice of the landlord became audible.

"Yuh half-witted idjit! Don't yuh know better'n to beat that pan when there's a lady in the house?"

"Must be a real lady," commented Loudon.

They had nearly finished breakfast when there came a tapping of quick heels on the stairs. Loudon raised his eyes and gaped audibly. For the woman entering the room was Kate Saltoun.

"I'm awfully glad to see you again, Tom."

Scotty, fearful of an introduction, copped from the table.

"How's Johnny Ramsay gettin' along?" inquired Loudon.

"He has completely recovered. I went back to the Cross-in-a-box four days ago," Kate replied.

"That's good. I'm glad to hear it."

Paying no further attention to Kate, Loudon calmly proceeded to finish his breakfast. Kate began to finish the silence painful.

"Why, Tom," said she, "aren't you even a little bit glad to see me?"

"Last time I seen yuh," Loudon stated, deliberately, "yuh told me flat yuh never wanted to see me again. Yuh was engaged to Sam Blakely, too."

"You're lucky."

"Can't we be friends again? I didn't mean what I said, boy. Truly I didn't. I'll be at Lil's—Mrs. Mace, you know, at the Bend. Come and see me, won't you?"

Loudon dropped the lady's hand as if it had been a hot iron, and departed. He never wanted to see Kate Saltoun again.

"Slick!" said Scotty, ten minutes after arriving at the Flying M. "Don't blame yuh a mite, Double-day, for bein' fooled. Hereafter I don't write no more letter to yuh, see? Then if our forgin' brother takes his pen in hand again it won't do him no good."

On the corral fence Loudon sat with Telescope-Laguerrre and related his adventure.

"And," said Loudon in conclusion, "I'm goin' south after the little hoss in two or three weeks."

"Quest?"

"Yep."

"I quest, too. I go wit' you. I musn't go soon."

"Gettin' restless?"

Telescope nodded, his eyes fixed on the far-away line of saw-toothed mountains black against the stars.

"Tom, de ole tam have come back to me, an' w'en de old tam do dat I can not stay. I mus'—My fren'."

A WIFE IN THE MAKING

By PHYLIS PHILLIPS

Cherry found plenty of time however, to cultivate the friendship of the four or five people she had taken a liking to in Wellsburg. She had a sincere friend in Laura King and whenever she had a moment to spare that lady was sure to have a call from Mrs. Randall, Jr., night, or day. Then there was young Mrs. Wilders, a wife of three years' standing, who had become a firm ally of Cherry's shortly after her arrival in town.

Beth Wilders was a tall, dark girl, with an ingratiating personality, and plenty of ambition. She had married Joe Wilders, one of Wellsburg's promising business men, at twenty, and after the first year of matrimony had longed for something to do outside of her small, dainty bungalow, which almost ran itself, so perfect was it in every detail. Cherry's arrival in town, plus a head and thinking apparatus of her own, and a friendliness warming to the soul, had been an unexpected joy to Mrs. Wilders. From the start she and Cherry had become fast friends. The two girls understood each other and were interested in many of the same things.

"I think that Mrs. Wilders is one of the most charming and intelligent women I have met here," had been Cherry's description of that lady the day after meeting her.

Beth Wilder is intelligent; that's the pity of it, Mrs. Randall had made answer sharply. "The trouble with her and with lots of other people, too, is that she doesn't know when she's well off. That's where she falls down in her intelligence. Why, Joe Wilders is just as much in love with her as he was when he first married, and he gives her everything her heart desires, and she don't know enough to be happy, or even act happy. That's not clever, for Joe gets real cross about her moods often. Says there's nothing can really please her, no matter what he does. Such women don't deserve good husbands like Joe. And when you stop to think of a nice, affectionate, capable little girl like Arline Bates being single, it seems as if the Lord did overlook things sometimes. Beth considers that most women here are stupid, and you'll be a heap better off away from her, Cherry dear, than listening to her complaints and advanced notions all day."

"Maybe she is all you think, mother, but I don't think that Mrs. Wilders had everything she wants by any means, and it's not her fault if she reaches out for what Wellsburg folks considers 'the impossible.' Every human being is different and as you know, 'What's one man's meat, is another man's poison.'"

"I think she has proven to be one man's poison, true enough," answered Mrs. Randall, firmly, as she left the room.

Care and Responsibility.

THE responsibility attached to the preparing of a remedy for infants and children is undoubtedly greater than that imposed upon the manufacturer of remedies for adults whose system is sufficiently strong to counteract, for a time at least, any injurious drug. It is well to observe that Castoria is prepared today, as it has been for the past 40 years, under the personal supervision of Mr. Chas. H. Fletcher.

What have makers of imitations and substitutes at stake? What are their responsibilities? To whom are they answerable? They spring up today, scatter their nefarious wares broadcast, and disappear tomorrow.

Could each mother see the painstaking care with which the prescription for Fletcher's Castoria is prepared: could they read the innumerable testimonials from grateful mothers, they would never listen to the subtle pleadings and false arguments of those who would offer an imitation of, or substitute for, the tried and true Fletcher's Castoria.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

A Word About Truth.

"Great is Truth, and mighty above all things." So says the Old Testament, yet it is equally true to-day. Truth shows no favors, fears no enemies.

From the inception of Fletcher's Castoria, Truth has been the watchword, and to the conscientious adherence to this motto in the preparation of Fletcher's Castoria as well as in its advertising is due the secret of its popular demand.

All imitations, all substitutes, all just-as-good preparations lack the element of Truth, lack the righteousness of being, lack all semblance even in the words of those who would deceive.

And you! Mothers, mothers with the fate of the World in your hands, can you be deceived? Certainly not.

Fletcher's Castoria is prepared for Infants and Children. It is distinctly a remedy for the little ones. The BABY'S need for a medicine to take the place of Castor Oil, Paregoric and Soothing Syrup was the sole thought that led to its discovery. Never try to correct BABY'S troubles with a medicine that you would use for yourself.

GREAT LOVE IS UNREQUITED

She Loves Dearly Her Pal Who Loves Another.

Advised to Forget Him and Seek Other Friends.

Dear Miss Smart:
I HAVE been going with a young man for some time and love him dearly, but he cares for me as nothing more than an ordinary friend and good pal. He has made this plain to me. He respects and admires me and does everything a friend could do, but he does not love me. He told me he cares for and loves another girl.

BROKEN HEARTED
I NEEDED you are in a difficult and trying position and I feel very sorry for you. To love and yet receive no love is a painful thing. You should not go on giving love and getting only friendship in return. It is too hard on you and makes you suffer too much. I feel that the only way you can gain real contentment is to give him up entirely. You are gaining nothing and are really only passing up opportunities to go with other young men and enjoy their friendship. You will never be happy nor have a feeling of relief and freedom from strain until this affair is settled.

Go to the young man and tell him that you will always consider him a dear and true friend, but that you think it would be best not to see him. After that, forget the past. Do not live in the past or do not live too much in the future. Think of the present. Make each day count and enjoy every minute. If you try to make the best of things, show a happy spirit and enter into new interests in time some one else will come along for whom you can hold as great a love as you now have for this man.

Dear Miss Smart:
I am a young man 18 years of age and have been invited to a house party at a small lake in Indiana. I have never attended a house party and therefore am a little worried about what I should take. (1) Would white flannels with a blue coat be all right? (2) Should I take a bathing suit with me? (3) Will the coat I wear be white or blue? (4) Right to wear with the white flannels or should I take another coat? (5) How long should I wait after I get there? (6) Write a note of thanks to your host or hostess at your first opportunity upon your arrival home. Do not be careless and thoughtless and neglect this. All that is necessary is simply a short, informal note expressing your appreciation of his or her hospitality.

FRENCH RESORT DEMANDS NINE CHANGES DAILY

If you are one of those women who find dressing for dinner a bore and prefer to spend your vacation at some informal camp or seaside resort, don't go to Deauville, that famous resort in France. There to be correct one must make at least nine changes in clothes during the day from rising to retiring time. One can just hear the American women asking if anyone presumes to call changing costumes nine times a day a "vacation?"

The accompanying photograph shows the first outfit of the day of the lady of Deauville. It is a breakfast negligee of beige colored chiffon with a blue and lime green sash. An overdress of handsome lace and a tulle and lace cap complete the breakfast toilette of the fashionable woman. Then, of course, there is the inevitable cigarette in its dainty holder if milady indulges after breakfast.

Remember, no matter how smart Deauville sounds, one must change costumes nine times a day!

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Daymon, S. Elizabeth-st., entertained a group of friends at dinner at their home, Saturday evening. Progressive culture was the diversion of the evening. Mrs. Oliver Dill and Perry Roeder holding high score.

"EXPERIENCE," SUPER-PICTURE, SOON STAGE ALLEGORY IS BEING FILMED--RESUME OF MOVIE NEWS

(BY ESTHER WAGNER)
GLOOM is a figure which characterizes prohibition. It's a new character created for the movie version of the popular stage allegory, "Experience."

A new version of the story "Experience" is nearing completion, with Youth the chief figure, played by young Richard Barthelmess. Some who have seen his work in it declare he appears to still better advantage than he did in "Broken Blossoms" and "Way Down East."

The allegory will be remembered as oblivious enough. Youth leaves Love and Hope to answer the call of Ambition.

Experience takes him in tow and introduces him to Pleasure, Excitement, Intoxication, Temptation, Despair, Poverty and some others (not forgetting Gloom.)

The allegory ends when Youth returns to Love and Hope, whom he now recognizes as better guides to Ambition.

"Experience" is another of the super-pictures scheduled for showing this fall in Lima.

"THE CITY OF SILENT MEN" IS QUITE SURE TO PLEASE

THE title, as you know, means Sing Sing. And I can imagine every one of you—drawing a long breath and saying, "Aw, they did go and make that nice Tom Meighan a convict?" Haste is made to assure that that's exactly what they did do. BUT—He wasn't guilty, grrrrrr! He wasn't guilty.

This is one of the best pictures Mr. Meighan has drawn for some time. The story is suited to him and he does convincing work thruout. He also has a good supporting cast and the picture has the usual Paramount advantages of fine photographic sets and scenery.

Jim Montgomery, at the time the story opens, lives with his mother in a little New York town. He goes to the city to seek his fortune, bidding his fond mother a lingering goodbye. (Kate Bruce is wonderful in such roles, isn't she?)

Because of his skill with tools, he becomes the dupe of a safe-breaking gang who lure him to the spot of crime and leave him there holding the bag. Entirely ignorant of the crime of which he is charged—the murder of a watchman—he is sent up the river.

Hearing of his mother's desperate illness, he escapes, with the aid of a cell-mate, but arrives in time to see his mother being carried from her home in a waiting hearse. He manages to elude the law and in the west, under a different name, he makes good and marries well.

But Detective Kearney is on the job and they say of him that "he always gets his man." How he traces Jim Montgomery, meets him and leaves him, is something for you to see to keep still about.

The picture is an adaptation of John Morosco's novel "The Quarry." You will like it immensely.

"THE HEART OF MARYLAND" IS THRILLER? THAT'S SURE

It certainly is not an easy matter for any producing company to film an historical drama like "The Heart of Maryland" and do it logically and convincingly. This Vitaphone seems to have done, with the result that "The Heart of Maryland" is, in every sense of the word a splendid interpretation of the well known story by David Belasco.

It's a typical war story told in the days of the Civil War. Maryland Calvert, ably played by Catherine Calvert, is a true daughter of the South, in love with Col. Alan Kendrick, a Northern officer. At the outbreak of the war, torn between love and duty, Maryland breaks her engagement with Alan because she believes her duty lies in being loyal to her cause. Her brother, unknown to her, is in sympathy with the Union Army and is a spy. Numerous thrilling events occur, during which Alan is taken prisoner and destined to be hanged. But Maryland, her love reawakened, undertakes to save him, which, however, places her in a

MOVIE SECRETS ARE REVEALED

Q—What famous director is soon to marry a film star whom he picked out of a group of extras several years ago and made a leading woman?

A—Rex Ingram, the handsome young Irish director, and Alice Terry, the blonde haired Venus of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" are the principals in the latest studio romance. Ingram first saw Miss Terry among the extras at a studio in Hollywood several years ago. He was so impressed with her beauty that he immediately gave her a leading role in "Hearts Are Trumps." Ingram was born in Dublin, Ireland, in 1892, and was educated at Trinity College at Dublin and at Yale. Miss Terry is four years younger than Ingram, having been born in Nashville, Tenn., in 1898. She is five feet one inch tall, weighs 115 pounds and has a very fair complexion with blonde hair and grey eyes.

Q—How many of the Pickfords are now engaged in making pictures?

A—For the first time in several years all three of the Pickfords, Mary, Jack and Lottie—are busy in the studios. Mary is finishing "Little Lord Fauntleroy," Jack is making a picture called "A Tallor-Made Man," and Lottie is appearing in a Pathe Production entitled "She Must Pay."

Q—What is the title of Wally Reid's next picture?

A—Wally's next picture on which he has just started work is called "Rainbow's End." Gloria Swanson and Elliott Dexter are appearing with him.

Q—How long have Tom Moore and Renee Adoree been married?

A—They were married on Feb. 14, 1921.

Q—What is Viola Dana's real name?

A—Viola's real name is Violet Flugrath. She is with Metro in Hollywood and is now 22 years old.

LIMA FANS ARE EAGER TO OFFER SUGGESTIONS FOR AN ALL-STAR AGGREGATION

Predictions that Lima fans are highly interested in the selection of an all-star aggregation chosen from members of the Business Club league to play the Lima Independents, proved to be correct.

Communications containing suggestions began arriving at the News sports department early Monday morning, altho the announcement asking for suggestions was hardly 24 hours old. This is not a contest. No prizes are offered. It is simply an opportunity for the fans to let other fans know their idea of an all-star team. Suggestions are invited, and will be published on this sports page.

One enthusiast who signs himself "Old Fan" came thru with a suggestion which looks pretty sweet. Here is his idea of the team which would stand the best chance with the Independents:

Burke and F. Sealts, Catchers; Cunningham, Coon and Ashton, pitchers; Schrieder, first base; M. Sealts, second

Here's the lineup John Sweeney, age 17, 105 Haller-st favors: Burke and F. Sealts, C;

Ashton, Cunningham, Coon, P.; Preston, 1B; Lindesmith, 2B; Soash, 3B; Bernstein, ss; O'Farrell, rf; Fenton, cf; R. Sealts, lf.

The youngster offers no suggestion for utility players. It is not unlikely that these suggestions will be taken into consideration in event an agreement is reached whereby the Independents will battle an all-star aggregation selected from the Business Club league.

All selections must be in not later than next Friday. Address your communications to the Sports Editor, The Lima News.

It's Warm Struggle In American

Cleveland and New York in their little game of hide and seek in and out of the American League lead, are furnishing the spectacular features of the major league race.

Today, the Yankees, thanks to Red Faber, who beat the Indians yesterday, are in the lead by five slim points. The Indians and the Yankees are getting the same brand of erratic pitching, but the run scoring power represented in the bats of Ruth, Baker and Meusel, is keeping the Yankees in the race. The loss of Lee Numanaker, who is out for the season with a broken leg will be a handicap to the champions.

NATIONALS SLIPPING
Washington, which assumed the role of a contender with a long string of victories ten days ago, is slipping and the Senators are giving way slowly to the Browns who seem to have found themselves at last.

Detroit is on the way back also, having turned over fifth place yesterday to the Red Sox.

Pittsburgh is keeping the lead in the National League because of better pitching and tighter fielding than the Giants have been getting. The Pirates are out in front with a four-game lead and are showing no signs of cracking.

SLIM CHANCE FOR BOSTON
The Braves now have a slim chance to pull the "dark horse" stunt. Their handicap of eight games with only 48 to play is too heavy to expect a repetition of 1914.

The champion Robins have come out of their slump and are playing good ball, threatening to finish at least in third place. Under Bill Kalitler the Cubs are showing a little more life, but they lost ground last week and allowed the Reds to creep into sixth place. The Cardinals are losing most of their close games and are getting nowhere in particular.

Independents Win Series With Kenton

Lima Independents clinched their series with the Kenton All-Professionals here Sunday afternoon by decisively defeating them 10 to 5. It was the third and final game of the series.

Alexander went the route for the locals, and hurled his usual excellent brand of baseball. Russen held up the receiver's end.

Troy, which has scored one win over the Independents appear here next Sunday for the second game of the three contest series.

Delphos Vanquishes Spencerville Team

DELPHOS — The Delphos city baseball team scored a come-back on the fast Spencerville team which trimmed them early in the season to the tune of 9-0 with a vengeance at the Clay-st grounds Sunday, the final tally being 7-3. The visitors scored all runs in the first two innings, mostly thru errors. Browne pitched a wonderful game for the locals, with Moore at the receiving station. Owen and Phillips formed the battery for Spencerville. The game was the first of a series of three. The next will be played in two weeks.

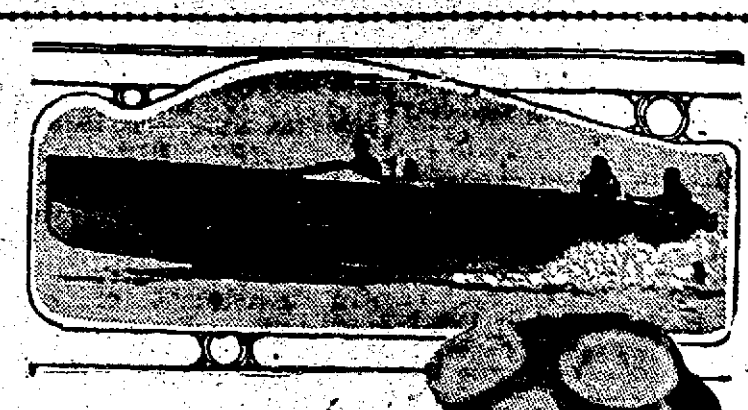

Van Wett will form the attraction next Sunday in the second of a three-game series. The first was won by the locals two weeks ago.

Star Campaigners Ready For Meeting

PHILADELPHIA — All the star campaigners of the Grand Circuit entered in the fifth annual meeting to open at Belmont track Tuesday, are on hand and stable room is at a premium. The track is in excellent condition. It is almost certain that Peter Manning will be sent after the state trotting record of 2:01 3-4 on Wednesday or Thursday. Special interest is being shown in the free-for-all pace scheduled for Friday, when the fastest field of side-wheelers to face the start this year will get the word. Special silver trophies will be awarded in all the stake events.

The prizes which have been donated are worth several hundred dollars.

BRITAIN'S HOPE IN INTERNATIONAL MOTORBOAT RACES AT DETROIT

Lieut. Col. A. W. Tate and Maple Leaf VII, snapped during recent trial at Cowes, England.

Great Britain motorboat followers are looking to the "Maple Leaf VII" to defeat America's best in the international motorboat races at Detroit next month. Sir Edward MacKay Edgar is the backer of the craft. Lieut. Col. A. W. Tate will pilot it. The boat was built at Cowes, England. It will compete against Miss America and other fast U. S. entries. The Maple Leaf VII recently did 80 miles per hour.

PINCH HITTER TWOMBLY IS CROWDING ROGERS HORNSBY

Clarence Twombly, who has been alternating between the outfield for the Cubs and acting as premier pinch hitter, is closing the gap between himself and Rogers Hornsby, the St. Louis star, for batting honors in the National League according to averages released today and which include games of last Wednesday. The Chicagoan tacked on five more points to his batting average and is the runner-up to Hornsby with an average of .375. The St. Louis key-stone gambler dropped five points but continues to top the list with an average of .410. Peg Young of New York is third with .369.

George Kelly, of the Giants, cracked out his 15th homer during the past week and is leading the circuit drive hitters, his closest rivals being Hornsby and McHenry of St. Louis, each of whom have 15.

FRISCH SETS PACE
Frisch of New York, stole three bases since the compilation of the previous figures and is showing the way to the base stealers with 34 thefts.

Hornsby broke the tie which he shared with Frisch for runs scored and is leading this department. He registered 89 times and has a total base record of 267, which includes 28 doubles, 13 triples and 15 homers.

Other leading batters: Cutshaw, Pittsburgh, .351; McHenry, St. Louis, .348; Nicholson, Boston, .336; Cruise, Boston, .342; Roush, Cincinnati, .329; Fournier, St. Louis, .338; Menzel, New York, .335; Mann, St. Louis, .335; Schmandt, Brooklyn, .335.

RUTH WAY AHEAD
Babe Ruth, the home run king, is 14 days ahead of his 1920 circuit drive record, according to averages released today and which include games of last Wednesday. The Yankee slugger crashed out his 44th homer in the game between New York and the Chicago Athletics, Friday.

Ruth has only to make 11 more to surpass his record. He cracked out six in the past week. In addition to this Ruth has attained a mark of 300 for total bases which besides his four-try blows, include 27 doubles and 8 triples. He also scored 117 runs for his club.

Harry Heilmann, the Detroit slugging outfielder, struck a slump in his batting and although he continued to top the players who have participated in 50 or more games, his average went from .423 to .417. Ty Cobb, his manager, who is the runner-up, also slumped, his mark being .387. Tobin, of St. Louis, on the other hand, fared well with the wildest and moved up to third position with an average of .373, with Ruth next with an average of .369, two points in front of Tris Speaker, who dropped from third place. Speaker's mark is .367.

HARRIS HOLDS LEAD
S. Harris, of Washington, failed to add to his string of stolen bases, and is showing the way with 20 thefts.

Other leading batters: Flagstead, Detroit, .358; Slater, St. Louis, .356; Williams, St. Louis, .353; Severoid,

Lieut. Col. A. W. Tate and Maple Leaf VII, snapped during recent trial at Cowes, England.

St. Louis, .348; E. Collins, Chicago, .347.

Kirke of Louisville increased his lead among the American Association batters during the past week and pulled further away from Reb Russell, the slugging Minneapolis outfielder who suffered a loss of two points. Kirk is batting .389, and has a total of 300 bases made on 202 hits which include 30 doubles, 11 triples and 15 circuit drives. Russell is hitting .373, while Bunny Brief, who has scored 113 runs for Kansas City, is in third place with .369 and is out in front in circuit drives with 23 homers to his credit.

Baird, of Indianapolis, has been burning the paths during the last week and with his thefts of six bases has run his string up to 49.

It's A Habit

CINCINNATI — (Special) — While Eppa Jeppia Rixey, of Virginia, kept the Cardinals' nine hits safely scattered, his team mate Jake Daubert aided by the remaining seven performers slugged the offerings of Dixie Walker for 10 hits, enabling them to take the St. Louis gang's measure by a five to one score. In four trips to the plate, Daubert pounded out two triples. One of them was the longest ever made on the local ball field.

Rixey held the Cards runless for seven innings. Then hits by Schutz, Stock and Fournier netted the visitors their meager tally. In the 12 Sunday games played by the Cardinals this season, yesterday's was the second one they have dropped.

The score:
St. Louis 000 000 010—1 9 1
Cincinnati 010 000 40x—5 10 1
Batteries: Walker and Glemons; Rixey and Wingo.

Prepare To Beat Net Star

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. — Miss America lines up in unusual formation today to take the "net" out of another French athlete.

Sixty-three of Uncle Sam's fair nieces will try to make July 3 repeat itself in the 34th annual women's tennis championships.

France, making her second bid of the summer for a world's title, has sent over Miss Suzanne Lenglen, queen of the European courts, in quest of the glory that Carpentier failed to accomplish.

Since the downfall of the gorgeous Georges, France puts upon her black-haired, dark-eyed daughter, the duty of putting her France into the world's championships. FRANCE IS CONFIDENT.

From the record made by the spectacular Suzanne, the confidence of her country is well placed. She has won every championship in the world but the American title.

The play of the first round for the American crown starts at 2 o'clock on the picturesque courts of the West Tennis Club, but Miss Lenglen will not compete today.

Generously considering the fact that she has a severe cold, that she has had little time to recover from the effects of her first ocean voyage and that a rain prevented her on chance to practice yesterday, the officials agreed to postpone her first round match with Miss Eleanor Goss until tomorrow.

SEVERAL FEATURES
Feature matches of today's program are between Mrs. Helen Homans McLean, champion of 1900 and Mrs. Bundy, champion of 1904, at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Mallory and Mrs. Jessup will furnish one of the most important matches of the week at 3:30 o'clock and Miss Marie Wagner and Miss Leil Bancroft will play at 5 o'clock. The girls' junior championship and the women's doubles will be staged in conjunction with the singles championship.

Lima Leads Win Over Opponents

Holding the Upper Sandusky tennis to five hits, Duff, Lima Leads, aided by his team mates, administered a 6 to 2 defeat to that team at Upper Sandusky Sunday afternoon. The Leads touched the offerings of Washburn, Upper Sandusky slaban for eight hits.

The score:
Lima Leads 6 0 0 0 0 0 1—6 8 1
Upper Sandusky 2 0 0 0 0 0 0—2 5 1
Batteries: Duff and Yoke; Washburn and Bolster.

Former Champion Is Seeking Title

AKRON — George May, national horseshoe pitching champion of 1919, staged a comeback here yesterday, when he defeated Charley Bobbitt, of Lancaster, 1921 champion, in six straight games. He'll meet Frank Jackson of Kellerton, Iowa, 1920 champion, in an exhibition here next Sunday.

The score:

Frankie Mantell Is After Hope Mullen

Stamping Hope Mullen, Muncie, Ind., fighter as "The Hopeless One", Frankie Mantell, of Dayton, declares he would like nothing better than to meet Sterline's boy in the squared arena.

The following is a letter received by The News sports editor Monday morning from Mantell:

Dear Sir:
"I have been training faithfully for the last two months, and am in the best of condition for my winter campaign. I certainly would like nothing better than a crack at Hope Mullen, or the Muncie Hopeless One. I am willing to meet this hopeless wonder under any conditions that the promoter can get him in the ring. However, favor 75 per cent to the winner and 25 per cent to the loser in a decision fight.
"Now providing they can not get him in the ring with me, I am willing to pay the price of two mules to drag him in, providing he has the heart to fight me.
Hoping you will publish this letter and thanking you for past favors,
"Yours very respectfully,

Dropped Again

CLEVELAND — (Special) — Urban Faber, White Sox star slaban, who was knocked silly by the Indians Friday did the old come back act yesterday afternoon, and, holding the Champions to five hits, beat them 4 to 1. While this was going on the Yankees were idle. Result—they are in first place while the Indians are again trailing their heels.

This opened the game for the Indians, but the White Sox hit him with everything except the gate receipts. Slim Caldwell was sent to the rescue in the fourth inning, and for the remainder of the game held the Sox to a pair of hits.

The score:
R. H. E.
Chicago 200 110 000—13 1
Cleveland 000 010 000—1 5 0
Batteries: Faber and Schalk; Uhlis, Caldwell and O'Neill.

National Loop Sets New Mark

A major league record for 1921 was set by the National League yesterday when there was no change of pitchers in the four games played. Of the eight twirlers, Morrice, of Pittsburgh pitched the best game, blanking Chicago with three hits. In the American league Jones of Boston shut out Washington with four hits, while Faber of Chicago restricted the Cleveland world's champions to five hits and one run.
Home runs decided two games. Whitted's homer gave Pittsburgh a one to nothing victory over Chicago in a pitchers' battle between Morrice of the Pirates and Martin of the Cubs. Frisch, whose batting has been prominent in many of New York's victories recently, made a home run with two on base in the first inning, netting the Giants more runs than Philadelphia made in the entire game. A home run by Orselle of Boston aided the Braves in defeating Brooklyn while two triples by Daubert of Cincinnati were responsible for St. Louis' defeat.

"Chuck" Carney May Be Able To Play

CHICAGO.—Reports that Charles "Chuck" Carney, all-American football star of the University of Illinois, would never be able to participate in the gridiron again, are premature, his physician, Dr. John L. Porter, said. An operation was performed on Carney's right knee to replace the torn ligaments displaced last fall and it was said that Carney had been told his leg would not stand the strain of football.
So far the operation appears successful, Dr. Porter said today, and he believes Carney will be able to play this fall.

BRINGING UP FATHER—

SHORT SHAVINGS

The town council of a small community met to inspect the site for a cemetery. They assembled at a chapel, and as it was a warm day they decided to leave their coats there.

"Some one can stay behind and watch them," suggested one of the members of the council.

"What for?" demanded another member. "If we are all going out together, what need is there for any one to watch the clothes?"

A country clergyman was preaching on an obscure point in an original and striking manner. He concluded by saying: "This is entirely my own view. Commentators do not agree with me."

The next day he was informed that one of his parishioners wished to see him. Going into his study he was greeted with cordiality by one of his scribesmen, who happened to be a market gardener.

"Morning, sir," beamed the caller. "Heard you say yesterday as common fakers didn't agree wif' yer, so I've brought a sack of my best. Hope you'll get on better with them."

WASN'T ABLE TO EARN A PENNY

Flat On Back When He Takes Tanlac; Carpenter Now Picture of Health

"I certainly do praise Tanlac, and always will; for it has put me in shape to where I can work and make a living for my family," said A. J. Haskins, a well known carpenter and a life long resident of Salem, Va., residing at 122 Academy St. for the past thirty-eight years.

"I was flat on my back in bed when I started taking Tanlac. I couldn't earn a penny, and it looked like nothing would do me any good. My whole system seemed poisoned from indigestion, constipation and biliousness, and I hadn't been able to eat anything but a little toast for a whole month. Before I had to quit work entirely I often got up in the mornings so dizzy I could hardly stand up to get my clothes on, and I couldn't climb a ladder at all. Then I broke down completely and had to go to bed."

"One day I told my wife I wanted to try Tanlac, and so it wouldn't give me a little appetite. Well, instead of upsetting my stomach like everything else I had tried, it commenced to help me. My appetite picked up, and in a little while I was fattening like a pig. I have gained sixteen pounds in weight now, and I can't remember ever feeling any better. I owe a great deal to Tanlac, and I can't help praising it."

Tanlac is sold in Lima by Hunter's Drug Store, and by leading druggists everywhere. Ad.

So beautiful he cannot look away

Sometimes you see a girl whose face draws men's eyes like a magnet, and try to discover the reason of her charm. Is it eyes, or hair, or the way she dresses, or the things she says and does?

All this is overlooking the one all-compelling beauty all men admire—the irresistible charm of the fresh, clear, smooth complexion which makes even plain features attractive.

There is no need to be envious, for you can easily have such a complexion yourself. The secret has been known since the time of Cleopatra

How to make your skin fresh and clear

To do this, use mild soap and apply it with your two hands. Massage it thoroughly into your skin and remove with many warm rinsings.

Apply a touch of cold cream, and if your skin is very dry, rub in a little before washing. This treatment makes your skin fresh as a rose, with the touch of rouge and a little powder, attractive embellishments, but not necessities.

Made from the mildest cleansers

You must use mild soap for such beautifying cleansing and the mildest you can choose is Palmolive. It is blended from the palm and olive oils which Cleopatra used in her elaborate toilet. These rare oils are the mildest cleansers nature ever produced.

Their combination in Palmolive produces a profuse, creamy lather that is smooth as a lotion. It penetrates every tiny pore and removes every trace of dirt, oil and cosmetics, leaving the skin wonderfully smooth.

If you want to keep your skin fresh and rosy, begin this beautifying cleansing today. Then let your mirror tell you how well you succeed.

Volume and efficiency produce 25-cent quality for

How users keep the price low

The price of Palmolive will surprise you as much as its quality. You will wonder how such a luxurious facial soap can be offered for ten cents. This is the secret.

The demand for Palmolive keeps the factories working day and night. It enables the purchase of these rare oils in enormous quantities. Our production is on an efficiency basis.

All this reduces manufacturer's cost and allows us to offer Palmolive at a popular price. It permits you to use it freely on the wash stand and for bathing, to enjoy the greatest modern luxury without thought of cost.

In hard water

Palmolive lathers freely and profusely in the hardest water, lessening the disagreeable effects with its own softening qualities. Take a cake with you when you travel.
